PROFILE

I discovered my passion for programming during dinner outing with a close friend, who introduced me to the captivating world of coding. From the moment I wrote my first 'Hello World!' program and created a simple webpage, I knew that programming was my true calling. Since then, I have completed courses in JS and other FE dev technologies, and my enthusiasm for learning drives me to continuously enhance my skills through dedicated study and engaging in diverse projects. Programming is not just a career choice for me; it's a profound passion that motivates me to learn something new every day.
